

American Association for Premature Infants (AAPI)

This national advocacy organization is dedicated to improving the quality of health, development and educational services for premature infants, children, and their families. Its Web site is a good entry point to available services.